

Week of January 24th

*Greetings I'On At Home members. Hopefully you are all well and ready to engage in the great events planned for this week.
Here's what's happening:*

*Jan 27 at 2PM, The Covid Vaccine: Why, when, how and what now??

An overview of the current status of the Coronavirus and the various vaccines designed to treat it will be presented by our I'On neighbor, Gary Headden, MD who is serving as Principal Investigator of the MUSC AstraZeneca vaccine trial. The presentation will be followed by a Q & A.

*Jan 27 at 3PM, "A Life on Our Planet"

Join Carol Degnen for an on-line discussion of David Attenborough's majestic new documentary "A Life on Our Planet." The famed naturalist recounts his life, the evolutionary history of life on earth, the loss of wild places and offers a vision for the future.

We'll take the chill off of winter with an outdoor Bourbon Tasting and celebrate the Year of the Ox with an on-line Chinese cooking demonstration.

We'll be viewing and discussing "Good Trouble", the 2020 American documentary about the life of civil rights activist and United States congressman John Lewis.

"Never, ever be afraid to make some noise and get in good trouble, necessary trouble."

Rep. John Lewis (1940-2020)

February will mark the start of a series of events featuring IAH members who are accomplished in a particular field. Our first presentation, "Re-Envisioning America Through Diversity", features Brady Anderson, Ben Tenille and Bill Sage who have been prominent in government, politics and law. They will discuss the White House transition and the most critical issues facing the Biden presidency.
