

A community of friends enjoying enriched, vibrant and independent lives together

Update from the President

As the lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer are winding down, your I'On At Home Board and Committees continue to build on an excellent year of providing events and services to our members. Our Programs Committees delivered 90 fun and interesting events so far, and our renewal rate among members is very high, providing a strong financial position, as reported by Treasurer, Joe Fanelli, in a recent weekly highlight.

Our strategic planning process, led by VP Jayne Eastman, has completed the input gathering step, including completed questionnaires and follow up interviews of a representative group of members. The feedback shows a high satisfaction level of members, with strong agreement on these points:

- Provides the opportunity to meet people and enjoy doing things together*
- Offers a variety of programs addressing social, intellectual and physical interests*
- Gives reassurance that help is available through volunteer services as neighbors helping neighbors*

In addition, the interviews provided more granular and diverse input on what members would like to see I'On At Home offer in the future. The Board will be digesting this information and building action plans to address what we've learned by the end of this year. Of course, we welcome your ideas any time, and, also, encourage you to consider joining one of our committees.

We look forward to continuing to evolve as the Community of Friends Enjoying Enriched, Vibrant and Independent Lives Together!

*Bob Hardie
President, I'On At Home Board*
